

AVERY ENNS

CONSULTANT, RESEARCHER AND PROJECT COORDINATOR

“What is most exciting about the search process is creating a new beginning in someone’s life, where they are fulfilled by not only the work they will do but by the relationships they will foster. This starts with the effort put in at Arlington to ensure there is a genuine connection between our clients and candidates, creating the foundation needed for a successful work environment. Being able to contribute to those beginnings through a variety of outlets is extremely gratifying, and always allows for new as well as stimulating exchanges throughout the process.”

Avery Enns is a Consultant, Researcher and Project Coordinator for Arlington Partners International. Avery provides support for a dynamic Managing Director team in project management of multiple ongoing mandates. This includes scheduling, quality management, and communication. Avery is also responsible for contributing research support for Arlington’s clients, providing a base for a diverse range of searches.

The majority of Avery’s work experience has been centered in close attention to client needs, in a variety of detail-oriented positions. This includes her work in the service industry as well as a video editor.

Avery is currently working towards a certificate from Ryerson in project management and film production.
