

SARAH CASSIDY

ARLINGTON'S DIRECTOR OF OPERATIONS
OFFICE OF THE CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER

"Arlington tells inspirational stories through which an individual can find purpose, fulfillment, and impact in the next phase of their career, while helping organizations find the right person who will bring their visions and strategies to life. Working to incorporate diversity of thought, innovation, and creativity into a streamlined framework and process, Arlington creates alignment, while facilitating a space for growth, realization, and maximum impact for both our clients and candidates alike."

Sarah Cassidy is the Director of Operations, Office of the Chief Executive Officer, at Arlington Partners International. She has a diverse range of experiences in various industries such as law, academia, event services, and media, and most recently the second in command to the co-CEO at Women of Influence. Women of Influence is an events and media company that, like Arlington, shines the light on inspirational diversity leaders and entrepreneurs globally. Sarah's skillset includes research, writing, marketing, operations, customer service, and project coordination and management. Sarah thrives in fast-paced and dynamic work environments and possesses strong administrative and organizational skills and competencies.

At Arlington, Sarah works closely with the Chief Executive Officer and Arlington's Managing Director team by providing support for all administrative, operational, and fiscal functions for the firm. In addition, Sarah provides scheduling and operational support in Arlington's corporate practice in all areas of Board, Chief Executive Officer and Senior Executive Search, Talent Management, and Board Advisory services across private, public, and not-for-profit sectors, globally.

Sarah earned her Honours Bachelor of Arts in Political Science from the University of Toronto. Her past educational and leadership experiences include attending an intensive summer study abroad program at the University of Cambridge in 2017 and participating in an outdoor leadership and personal development program through Outward Bound in northern Minnesota in the summer of 2016.
