

VICTORIA MARROCCOLI

SENIOR CONSULTANT AND RESEARCHER

“Arlington celebrates success and innovation. I was inspired to work with Arlington’s highly collaborative team because of their commitment to diversity and quality leadership and its impact on the development of organizational culture and growth.”

Victoria Marroccoli is a Senior Consultant and Researcher at Arlington Partners International providing integrated support to Arlington’s Leadership team as well as coordinating projects to deliver the highest calibre research foundation and client service. Victoria is responsible for supporting the Financial Services, Media and Entertainment, Legal and Board, Healthcare Non-Profit and Academic practice areas for Arlington across North America and supports searches across all industry sectors, globally.

Victoria is passionate about diversity and inclusion strategy and policy in all facets of business operations, capitalizing on diversity as a catalyst for corporate success. Victoria also supports the research and editing initiatives of Arlington’s magazine. ARLINGTON is an annual magazine distributed globally to our network providing thought leadership and insights into key business and governance issues. It highlights leaders who are making an inspirational mark and difference in their industry sectors, organizations and communities on both sides of the border and beyond.

Victoria is completing her Master of Business Administration specializing in the Management of Technology and Innovation (MBA-MTI) at the Ted Rogers School of Management, Ryerson University. During her studies, she was a graduate assistant in the Department of Business and Law in Ethics & Commerce and the President of the Women in Leadership Association (WiLA). Her graduate thesis focusses on women in leadership, specifically, the enabling and inhibiting factors of women advancing through their careers to senior management and leadership roles. Victoria completed her Honours Bachelor of Arts at the University of Western Ontario with a majoring in Political Science with a minor in Transitional Justice and Post-Conflict Reconstruction.
